

La Scalarina's Blog

Inter-City Opera Board Meeting

Posted on June 24 at 8:54 PM / By La Scalarina

Well, everyone, you know that La Scalarina gets her scoop! A little birdie told me that tempers were flaring at the last board meeting of Inter-City Opera, when our (locally) famed Artistic Director drops some hints about new productions along the line of last year's hit Fireflight . . . Apparently some of the old dogs got up in arms, and a few of the busybodies walked out! Presumably to get to their bridge game! I'm the first one to love another Boheme or Carmen, girl, but please! It is not 1985! Or 1885, for that matter! Let's get with the times. If Inter-City Opera goes down, we will all suffer, and I'll be out of a job. Just kidding. No one pays me for this. (Click here to make a donation!) And stay posted! My little birdie likes to give me regular updates.

ABOUT ME

ARCHIVES

June

May

April

March

February

January